

Human Rights Funders Network

2019 Member Contributions

The Human Rights Funders Network is a global network of funders committed to advancing human rights around the world through effective philanthropy. HRFN member contributions play a key role in our budget, helping to sustain our work and support an inclusive and diverse community across 70 countries.

Your membership contribution makes all of our ongoing work possible:

When you join our network, you become part of a vibrant community of funders eager to strengthen the impact and effectiveness of their funding. We provide a variety of tools and platforms for members to deepen their human rights knowledge, connect with funders across the globe, and inform strategic decision-making in an evolving state of global human rights philanthropy.

- Our regular e-newsletter and blog provide platforms for members to share their views on timely topics, announce new initiatives and events, and publicize job openings.
- Our virtual and in-person events offer members the chance to explore critical human rights issues, share emerging strategies, and hone grantmaking craft.
- Members can join working groups focused on specific human rights issues, grantmaking practices, populations, and geographic regions.
- Members also have access to our research on the field of human rights philanthropy, including resources like our interactive, funders-only map.
- Beyond this, members have valuable opportunities to exercise leadership among peers, get involved in critical policy debates, and gain new perspectives on addressing human rights issues.

We invite your institution's contribution to help sustain the work of HRFN:

- In the following chart, we suggest contribution levels that correspond to your annual grantmaking budget, but please determine the amount that's right for your institution.
- Only one representative from your institution needs to complete this form. However, any number of individuals from your institution can participate in HRFN, as long as their role does not primarily involve fundraising.
- Dues can be paid either as a grant or as a fee (i.e., as administrative costs).
