DESCRIPTION

The Human Rights Funders Network and Foundation Center recently launched the first-ever five-year trends analysis in our Advancing Human Rights: Knowledge Tools for Funders Initiative, which maps the landscape of global human rights grantmaking. Join us on February 14, 2018 in San Francisco, as we celebrate the launch of this multi-year undertaking and reflect on where the field has been and where it is going.

This daylong event, co-sponsored with Foundation Center, will convene funders to explore ongoing trends and challenges in human rights funding. The launch event will give attendees the chance to learn and discuss how human rights funding has changed, while exploring ideas on where it will go and the strategies to help it get there.

OBJECTIVES

- Funders are informed about recent trends in human rights philanthropy, gain familiarity with the research tools, and identify ways to use the research to advance their work.
- Funders reflect on and analyze key shifts in the human rights funding landscape by putting recent trends into context and sharing related grantmaking strategies moving forward.
- Funders build connections for future collaborations and more collaborative decision-making and/or effective philanthropic advocacy.
